

Public Speaking for Real People

Most professionals are very good at what they do, but struggle to explain what they do. This failure to communicate often holds us back from advancing within an organization. You may not be asked to do a TED Talk anytime soon, but you do need to know how to present yourself to bosses and peers. Public Speaking Coach Mary Milla will teach you how to develop presentations that advance your ideas, keep audiences listening and build your personal brand. Bonus: Mary makes it real easy; we promise!
